

Building a Movement for Good Jobs and Zero Waste

This panel discussion and dialogue will examine how bad jobs can become good union jobs in the waste management industry and how a zero waste campaign for Sonoma County and Petaluma over the next decade can result in a 100% diversion rate of waste from landfills. In addition, participants will discuss how County and Petaluma residents can become involved in the good jobs and zero waste campaign.

Panelists Include:

Fred Stemmler, Recology General Manager, Sonoma and Marin

Celia Furber, Recology General Waste Manager

Laura Neish, Executive Director, 350 Bay Area and Sonoma

Patricio Estupiñan and Juan Gallo, Recology driver and Teamster Local 665 Rep

Marty Bennett, Co-chair, North Bay Jobs with Justice
